Weather Probabilities.

For this section fair and continued cool tonight. Friday fair, warmer; light variable winds, becoming southerly.

The Nelson-La Fontaine Case.

John C. Nelson and James La Fontaine, against whom indictments were returned last week in the Circuit Court for the county, charging them with violating the gambling laws of Virginia, were given a hearing yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock before Justice of the Peace J. E. Supplee in the Mount Vernon avenue school house, in Jefferson district. Justice J. R. Hagan sat as associate justice in the case. The defendants were represented by Attorneys Harlow and Brumback and Commonwealth's Attorney Crandall Mackey conducted the prosecution.

Detectives Cox and Johnson, of Washington, were the witnesses for the prosecution. They testified that on the 13th of last October they had visited the place conducted by Nelson and La Fontaine and had bet on races. One of the detectives had won and the other had lost. They said that they saw the two defendants engaged in the business. The court imposed the maximum penalty—$500 fine on each, together with three months imprisonment in jail. An appeal was taken to the Circuit Court for the county and the case will come up at the December term.

These cases are separate and distinct from those which were recently taken into the United States court before Judge Waddill by counsel for Nelson and La Fontaine, upon habeas corpus proceedings in which an attempt was made to have the federal court interpose, on the ground that Alexandria county is not a part of Virginia, but belongs to the District of Columbia. As before stated, Judge Waddill ruled against their petition, allowing them, under the order which was entered, until Tuesday at noon for obtaining an appeal.

While holding the special term of court in this city, which was adjourned Tuesday afternoon, Judge Waddill was again applied to by counsel for the defendants for an order allowing an appeal, but he declined to grant the petition. Up to the time indicated the court had received no notice of any appeal or stay of any kind having been allowed by the Supreme Court of the United States, and so far as the court was informed no further move had been taken in the case. As stated in the Gazette of that day no application was made to the Supreme Court for an appeal from the decision of Judge Waddill. This probably means the termination of the efforts to place the cases in the United States courts.

The final order entered by Judge Waddill in the case had the force of remanding Nelson and La Fontaine to the custody of Sheriff Palmer at noon Tuesday, but this was not done, for the reason that the defendants had been released on bail allowed by Judge Nicol after they had been sentenced in the magistrate's court.

Accident to Ferry Steamer.

The new ferry steamer Woodbury on her way to Washington yesterday afternoon had one of her rudders damaged by colliding with a submerged log, and it was found necessary to take the steamer off the route temporarily. It was at first thought that it would be necessary to send the steamer to Baltimore for repairs, but upon closer examination it was seen that the damage was comparatively slight and that repairs could be made in this city.

The Woodbury resumed her place on the route at 3 o'clock this afternoon. An attaché of the Harlan & Hollingsworth Company in Wilmington is on the boat supervising the minor work to be done to the steamer. It seems that some of the machinery is not yet in perfect running order, as is generally the case with new work. The reverse bar, for instance, which was the cause of minor accidents in entering the slips is hard to move. These things, however, were remedied, and everything will soon be working satisfactorily.

Shipyard Notes.

The work of overhauling the United States army quartermaster's tug Lieut. Alonzo H. Cushing, the new tender to Fort Washington and Fort Hunt artillery stations on the Potomac below this city, is now rapidly approaching completion under the supervision of the contractors, J. & H. Aitchison, and the vessel will be ready to return to service within the next two or three days. The Cushing is lying at the wharf foot of Prince street, and her engine and machinery, hull and house have been put in the best of order to fit her for service on the route between this city and the Potomac forts during the coming winter. When the Cushing returns to service, it is stated that the tug Gibbon, which has been running on the river between the forts and this city for the past two or three years, will leave for an army post on the south Atlantic coast.

Narrow Escape.

While returning to his home on Seminary Hill Monday evening Rev. S. A. Wallis met with a narrow escape. His horse became frightened by an electric car near Spring Park and backed into the ditch near the track. The vehicle was damaged, but the occupant was unhurt. The road at that point is dangerously narrow on both sides of the track, but it could be easily improved by a covered sewer pipe, thus making a wider road and removing the filthy condition of the ditch at that end of the town. It is hoped some action will be taken in regard to this matter, as several accidents have occurred at that point recently.

Police Court.

[Justice H. B. Caton presiding.] The following cases were disposed of this morning.

A white boy, arrested by Conductor Morris charged with trespassing upon an electric train, was dismissed with an admonition.

Ferdinand Patton, arrested by Officer Garvey charged with drunken and indecent conduct, was sent to jail for five days.

Mit Slog, arrested by officer Garvey charged with drunken and disorderly conduct, was dismissed with a reprimand.

Alexandria Library.

The following new books have been added to the Alexandria Library during the month of October: The Gambler, Katherine Thurston; That Manwaring Affair, Maynard Barbour; The Little Lady of Lavender, Theodor Elmstie; The Courtship of a Careful Man, E. S. Martin; Saana, M. E. Waller, Cecilia's Lover, Amelia E. Barr; The Purple Parasol, George B. McCutcheon; Concerning Belinda, Eleanor H. Brainerd; By The Waters Of Babylon, Mrs. De Koven; The Great Mogul, Louis Tracy; Lichtenstein, Wilhelm Hauff; Nedra, George B. McCutcheon; Mrs. Tree's Will, Laura E. Richards; The Orchard Princess, Ralph Henry Barbour; Billy Boys and Girls, Sophie Sweet; My Friend the Chauffeur, C. N. and A. M. Williamson; Sigurd Eckdal's Bride, Richard Voss; The Sign of the Fox, Anonymous; The Master Mummer, P. Oppenheim; Trident and The Net, Anonymous; Azalha Webb, Anna K. Green; Master Of Eilersbury, E. Wer-ner; Six Girls, F. B. Irving; Miss Weal-er's Hope, Mrs. C. E. K. E. Francis; The Man Of The Hour, Octave Thanet; Langbarrow Hall, Theo-dora W. Wilson; Dorset Dear, M. E. Francis; A Servant Of The Public, Au-thony Hope. A new supplement to the catalogue of the library has been printed and can be bought at the Library for five cents.

Mrs. Lee in Baltimore.

Mrs. William Henry Fitzhugh Lee, of Ravensworth, Fairfax county, widow of Gen. W. H. F. Lee, the Confederate cavalry commander, better known as "Rooney" Lee, is stopping at the Sher-wood. From Baltimore she will go to New York to meet her sister-in-law, Miss Mary Lee, who has been traveling abroad. Gen. W. H. F. Lee was a son of Gen. Robert E. Lee, the great southern leader. He was a gallant cavalry com-mander during the war, and at one time, while wounded and a prisoner in the hands of the northern troops, was ordered to be hanged in retaliation for two union captives, who were ordered hanged by the Confederate authorities for the hanging of two Confederate officers by General Pope. The union officers were not hanged and General Lee was afterward exchanged for Gen. Neal Dow. Ravensworth is one of the finest estates in Virginia and is still kept up with all the elegance of ante-bellum days. —[Baltimore Sun.]

Idle Youths.

Apart from the number of blacks and whites in the community who refuse to work, it is noticeable that it is no easy matter to employ boys at remunerative wages. A citizen told a representative of the Gazette this morning that he had been endeavoring to procure a boy—white or black—and had offered $3.50 a week for a suitable one. He approached several groups—especially on King street—where numbers congregate for the purpose of acting as guides to strangers, but was unable to induce one to accompany him. There are others who idle their time away, loafing about corners, and who have not enough energy to attend school or act as guides.

Sewer Outlet.

A big boat with a dozen men aboard it has been moored a short distance above the United States naval powder magazines above this city for the past day or two, making soundings from the shore out to the channel, and it is stated the work is being done for the purpose of ascertaining the exact depth of the water and the nature of the bottom for use of the engineers in charge of the construction of the big sewer which will run from Washington and will have its outlet into the Potomac at the point where the soundings are being made.

The Hunting Season.

Yesterday, November 1st, ushered in the hunting season. From now until February 1 in Virginia east of the Blue Ridge mountains, partridges may be killed without violation of the State game laws. Not only is this the beginning of the partridge season in Virginia but also it begins the days for pheasants, woodcock and wild turkeys. The rabbits will also come in for a great deal of attention in many counties, for the game law does not protect them any longer in the northern sections of the State.

Steamer Withdrawn.

The placing of the new ferry steamer Woodbury on the route between this city and Washington has caused the withdrawal of the little steamer Runaway from the ferry route between this city and the Washington yard. The Runaway made two trips a day from this city for the accommodation of Alexandria mechanics who work in the Washington navy yard.

Knocked Assailant Down.

Mr. W. W. West, ticket agent of the Washington-Southern Railway, was accosted by a strange negro a short distance east of the new union depot early last night. He attempted to rob Mr. West, but the latter picked up a stone and knocked the highwayman down. The man soon regained his feet and escaped in the darkness.

Democratic Meeting.

As stated yesterday, Senator Martin and other speakers will address the citizens of Alexandria at the Opera House tomorrow night. The city Democratic committee, with Mr. Charles Bendheim as chairman, is making all necessary arrangements for the occasion and a large crowd is expected to be present.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

From Napier, New Zealand, Herald: Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that they declared were entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. When taken in time it prevents pneumonia. This remedy is for sale by Gib-son & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

The Market.

Georgetown, Nov. 2.—Wheat 65.25.

Police Commissioners.

A meeting of the Police Commissioners was held last night. The unfinished business of the last meeting, that of the charge against Officer Allen, was taken up and a general discussion followed. This ended in an order being issued dismissing Allen from the force for violating section 5 of the police rules and regulations, which forbid a police officer from drinking in a saloon while on duty. The other business transacted was only of a routine nature.

It is rumored on the streets that Mr. Allen will take an appeal to the Corporation Court on the ground that he was not present when the last trial took place.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The weather was cold again last night and ice formed.

A marriage license was issued in Washington yesterday to Samuel F. Kenner, of Riverton, and Emma Miller, of Overall.

A sailboat containing two young men capsized off this city yesterday. The occupants were rescued and the boat towed ashore by parties who went to their relief.

Sheldon R. Van Houton, assistant keeper of the light station at Mathias Point, on the Potomac river, has been relieved from duty there and sent to the Lazaretto station in Baltimore harbor, as assistant keeper.

In the explosion in the electric power house in Washington yesterday Paul Williams, colored, living in this city, had a narrow escape. He was in the basement of the building, but managed to gain the street without material injury.

Doctor and Mrs. Randolph Elliot, of Washington, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jessie Eugenia, to Mr. Charles N. Thompson, of Hamilton, Loudoun county. Mr. Thompson is principal of the Jefferson School, at Washington.

Complaint having been made to the Mayor that lights placed on obstructions in the street to warn pedestrians or drivers of vehicles of danger have been removed, stolen or broken, that official has notified the police to keep a sharp look out for the offenders and arrest the first one seen. The police justice will do the rest.

It is rumored that Col. G. W. Anderson, of the Seventieth Virginia Regiment, to which the A. L. I. belongs, has resigned, and that in all probability Major Stanley W. Martin, of Danville, will succeed him.

The work of laying the line of water mains from Duke street extended to the new depot at the western outskirts of the city is being pushed rapidly to completion.

During the month of October the clerk of the Corporation Court recorded 48 deaths and issued 40 marriage licenses—35 to white and 11 to colored persons.

The temperature of last night was the lowest of the season, the mercury dropping to 36°. Ice formed in exposed places.

The Fire Warden will meet at the Reliance engine house at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The Circuit Court for the city, Judge Nicol, will begin its fall term on Monday.

C. A. Shaffer & Co. will have at Stall No. 2, southeast corner of Royal street wing of the market, Saturday, chrysanthemums, carnations and bunch flowers; also hardy ferns for fern dishes; palms and ferns at prices to suit everybody.

Just received 50 bushels extra fine Jackson creek oysters—served on half shell at The Elkton.

Dining room open every Sunday during oyster season. C. H. Zimmerman, Market Space.

Personal.

Mr. George E. Chism and Miss Nellie Gibson, both of Washington, were married at the M. P. Church last night by Rev. J. H. S. Ewell.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Warfield, Miss Jennie Marks and Miss Bessie Green are at the Hotel Victoria, New York.

Mrs. Elizabeth Barrels and her daughter have returned from a visit to relatives in Europe.

Mrs. David Rust, Miss Laura Danenower and Miss May Snowden will serve tea at the Golf Club house on next Friday evening from 5 to 5 o'clock.

Saved by Dynamite.

Sometimes, a flaming fire is saved by dynamiting a space that the fire can't cross. Sometimes, a rough hang on so long, you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it. Z. T. Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her, so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which eased her cough, gave her sleep, and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for bronchitis and La Grippe. At E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store, price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

Do not be deceived by counterfeits when you buy Witch Hazel Salve. The name of E. C. DeWitt & Co. is on every box of the genuine. Piles in their worst form will soon pass away if you will apply DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve night and morning. Best for Cuts, Burns, Boils, Tetter, Eczema, etc. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co., 401 King street.

A Story of Ole Bull.

Few tales are told which are finer than that of the encounter in earlier years with the old Bernadotte himself. The king had referred to the Norwegians as "my Poles," at which Ole Bull, drawing himself up, inquired, "When has a Norwegian shown himself disloyal to the king?" Then, without waiting for an answer, he announced that he must at once take leave. Upon this the king turned to him with an imperious "I command you to stay!" But the violinist shrugged his shoulders and replied, "Then I will see, whether a Norwegian remains free in the palace of the king of Sweden." At this, as Ole Bull would tell when recounting the scene, there came into the face of the monarch the most winning smile he had ever seen on a human countenance, and, putting out his hand impulsively, Bernadotte exclaimed: "Nay, I beg you to remain. A prince should hear the opinions of all his people." And the talk which then resulted was the basis of deep confidence on both sides.—Century.

A Case of Want.

A prison visitor recently asked one of the prisoners how he came to be there. "Want," was the answer. "How was that, pray?" "Well, I wanted another man's watch. He wasn't willing I should have it, and the judge wants me to stay here five years."

Not Too Hard.

"Rather hard to lose your daughter," said the guest at the wedding. "No," replied the bride's father. "It did look as if it were going to be hard at one time, but she finally landed this fellow just as we were giving up all hope."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The P. S.

"Why does a woman always add a postscript to her letter?" "Well," answered the ungallant wretch, "she probably figures out in her own mind what her letter has made you say and then tries to have the last word."—Washington Star.
